LEASE PROBLEMS—Members of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission discuss a possible lease on property formerly occupied by Bergeron Marine. On hand for the commission meeting Monday were the county supervisors, who questioned the requirements for an option on the lease, and representatives of two firms interested in using the property. At the table are, from left, Commissioners Nancy Gex and David McDonald and Commission President Ronald Artigues. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Bay non-teaching school employees to receive $100,000 pay increases

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

A spin-off effect of the recent state-wide teacher salary hikes on the Bay St. Louis school district will be a bill of more than $125,000 to meet associated pay raises.

Based on pay raises approved by school board members at the past two meetings, $125,931 will be paid by the district in 1985-86 for salary and benefit increases of employees other than teachers.

At the regular school board meeting Monday, board members approved a 10.7 percent increase on the base salary for non-certified per-sonel in the district recommended by Superintendent J. D. McCollough.

At a meeting last week, board members had urged McCollough to make every effort to find funds for non-certified worker salary increases.

This raise will mean an additional 40 cents per hour for janitors, cafeteria workers and maintenance for a total increase of $8,105 for the year.

Secretaries and library aides will receive 47 cents extra per hour for a combined yearly increase of $9,834. Combined benefits of these two groups will increase $2,834.

Teachers' aides and assistants will receive an increase of $505 per year. The total increase for this group including benefits is $24,057.

Increases for salaries in the food services group will increase $14,104 over last year.

Transportation increase of $14 per month for each route will cost the system an additional $4,200 in the 85-86 school year.

A raise for business manager Garland Cuevas was also approved by the board Monday. His salary will increase by $2,354.

A raise for McCollough was reviewed and the board decided that the 5.1 percent raise approved last week was out of line with other administrative pay raises.

Administrators pay raises approved by the board range from 10.7 to 12.4 percent and the board voted to give McCollough a 10.7 percent raise.

The administrative pay raises are directly related to increases in teachers pay scale because the base salary for an administrator is taken from the teachers scale according to education and years experience.

This raise increases the superintendent's salary by $4,163 over his 1984 salary of $38,900 to $43,063.

Administrative pay raises total $25,848 with an additional $4,565 in increased benefits.

Athletic Director Wilmer Seymour, whose salary is based on 40 percent administrative duties, will receive a pay raise of $2,936.

Included in the increase which will raise his 85-86 salary to $28,258 is the $2,400 granted by the legislature.

The school district will also have to pay $26,400 for the state-granted pay raises for the 11 non-unit teachers paid entirely from local funds.

Increased benefits for non-unit teachers will be approximately $4,200.

Development group tours Fla. beaches

By ELLIS CUEVAS

FORT WALTON, FLA.—

Hancock-Harrison Sandbeach Technical Advisory Council members visited Gulf Shores, Ala., Pensacola, Fla., and Santa Rosa Island, Fla. beaches Wednesday enroute to Fort Walton.

Some 23 members made the trip sponsored by the executive council of the Hancock-Harrison Sandbeach Plan and the Bureau of Marine Resources.

Jeff Taylor, Gulf Regional Planning Commission representative, and Gary Mitchell, of the Bureau of Marine Resources were joined by Hancock County Supervisor Sam Perniciaro and Harrison County Supervisor Bobby Eleuterius.

Others from Hancock County include Buddy Klein, Gulf Regional Planning committee member; Ray Kidd, vice chairman; and advisory council members Clarice Gustin, Dorothy Sutton and Ellis Cuevas.

Mayor Thomas B. Norton of Gulf Shores, a community with a population of 2,165, said the population is 50,000-75,000 a weekend during the tourist season.

The mayor noted the city has in its budget, $200,000 per year for the local chamber of commerce.

Gulf Shores has 4,000 motel and condominium rooms available and operates on a four percent lodging tax which is part of an eight percent total sales tax.

The island was destroyed by Hurricane Frederick in 1979 and the tourist industry had to start from scratch.

The community beaches are litter free as well as the community roadways.

"We have made only one arrest in the past three years for littering. Our community workers encourage visitors to use proper waste disposal," Mayor Norton reported.

"No alcoholic beverages are allowed on the city owned beaches and roadside vendors are very limited," he added.

Boardwalks, parking areas and restroom facilities are provided for the tourists by the city.

The advisory council was served dinner at the Eglin Air Force Base Officers' Club Wednesday.

Today's tour includes Fort Walton and Destin Beach facilities and a meeting with representatives of the Destin Planning Commission.

The group is scheduled to return this evening to Hancock and Harrison counties.

WLOX-TV, Channel 13 representatives Cynthia Landry and Mo Capobianco also joined local representatives on the trip.

Industrial park property settlement delayed

By DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is still waiting for the board of supervisors to approve a proposed leasing of the former Bergeron Marine site.

The commission met Monday with the supervisors to defend its decision on who should have the lease.

The supervisors are expected to take some action at their April 15 meeting.

The supervisors had refused to approve granting a 60-day lease option to former Bergeron employee Ralph Ryan April 1 after questioning the commission's requirements for eligibility for the lease.

The commission, in a decision made last month before the bankrupt Bergeron Marine leasehold improvements were sold, agreed that whatever firm purchased the majority of those improvements would be given a 60-day option to lease.

Ryan purchased about $25,000 worth of Bergeron equipment, including a synchronized lift and a barge transport system.

Although the supervisors had approved the commission's resolution regarding the requirements for obtaining the lease option, the board later questioned that decision when Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner wanted to know exactly what constituted the leasehold improvements.

Ladner and the other supervisors began questioning the commission's decision to give Ryan the option after another former Bergeron employee, Ira Michel, protested through his attorney Joseph Gex that he too had purchased $1,300 worth of the Bergeron equipment.

He contended that neither he nor Bergeron had purchased the majority of the leasehold improvements.

"It appeared to us that the leasehold improvements were any fixtures that would have to be taken out of the ground to be removed. One item both parties appeared very interested in was the synchronized lift, and the other was the barge transport system," Commissioner Nancy Gex explained.

"We didn't want somebody buying this equipment and pulling it out of the ground to turn into scrap metal."

—Robert Genin

"There was not misunderstanding on the part of the port commission regarding what the leasehold improvements were. We felt the purchase of the lift and the barge launching system would enable the leaseholder to move in and establish a shipyard as early as possible," Commissioner David McDonald said.

Commission president Ronald Artigues said that the commission's definition of leasehold improvements had been made clear to both Michel and Ryan.

Robert Genin, commission attorney, said the commission had made its decision regarding the improvements and their connection to the lease agreement to protect the site.

"We didn't want somebody buying this equipment and pulling it out of the ground to turn into scrap metal," he explained.

Board attorney Walter Gex III said the supervisors have no choice other than to approve the lease agreement if the commission had discussed the matter with both Ryan and Michel.

The lease, if granted, will be $3,600 per month.

The commission had attempted to get both firms to split the site, but Ryan and Michel both wanted the same equipment, Genin said.

In other business, the commission agreed to transfer another Port Bienville Industrial Park site, formerly occupied by Steve Knight Steel Fabricators, to McKinney Towing Company of Slidell, La.

McKinney will pay off the balance of a lease-purchase agreement Knight had with the county for the property, which includes 19 acres of land, a bulkhead and a steel drydock.

McKinney plans to operate a barge towing service with about four employees based at Port Bienville in addition to the firm's barge crews, according to Andrew McKinney, who represented the company at the meeting.

The commission also met briefly with Michael Smith of Advanced Development Inc. to discuss projects at Stennis Airport.

Smith reported that Southland, Inc., a contractor on a parallel taxiway under construction, plans to apply for a two-week extension on the project because bad weather has delayed paving work.

The commission also approved turning the county's Key Community project over to the Chamber of Commerce. The commission had been trying to obtain Key Community designation for the county and will continue as advisor on industrial aspects of the project.

Planning and Zoning denies change request

The Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission denied a zoning change request by Raymond Stevens for the second time in their regular meeting Tuesday.

The original denial had been sent back to the planning commission by the city council. The planning commission again denied the request.

The request was denied because the property does not meet the requirements needed for the zoning Stevens is seeking a change under—the mini-subdivision ordinance.

Further discussion of the matter is expected at the May meeting.

Chairman C. C. McDonald reported at the beginning of the meeting that a hearing on a zoning request by Alice Holmes for property on Beach Boulevard would be at the next meeting.

He added that the delay was requested by the property owner.

FUTURE

The Bay St. Louis area expects a growth in population in the future that boggles the mind. (80% in the next 10 years) It could be a new era of prosperity. It could make our City a better place to live and work. It could insure a pleasing future for our children. But that's a pipedream the way City Hall works. We're hardly keeping pace with the present. It can be a reality by putting a dynamic man with fresh ideas to work in City Hall. Kelvin Schulz will do many things as your mayor—but two points on his agenda are uppermost.

- 1.) Improve city services now.
- 2.) Plan for our future so that those city services can adequately meet the demands and growth of the future.

Officials, educators plan April 'post mortem' on teacher strike

Teachers, local superintendents, school board members, attorneys and legislators will gather at the Hattiesburg Coca-Cola Bottling Plant April 16 to conduct a post-mortem on the recent teachers' strike.

Featured speakers for the day-long conference, sponsored by the University of Southern Mississippi, will include State Superintendent of Education Richard Boyd and Mississippi Association of Educators President Alice Hardin.

"There needs to be a meeting of the minds of the three groups involved—teachers, administrators and state officials—on events leading up to the strike and actions during the strike," said USM's Dr. Johnny Purvis, workshop director.

"In addition to presenting the viewpoints of the various groups, we will examine case law associated with teacher strikes and conclude with some discussion of what the future may hold," Purvis said.

Purvis, a USM associate professor of curriculum and instruction, is considered an expert on school law. He also is the director of the Mississippi School Study Council and serves as president of the Lamar County School Board.

Teachers involved in the program include Joyce Brehm of Oak Grove Middle School and Nancy Miller of Sumrall Elementary School, both located in Lamar County, and Clarksdale High School teacher Lee Childress.

Local school superintendents participating will include Dr. Hines Cronin of Moss Point; Dr. Tom Lott of West Point; Dr. Jim Moore of Greenwood; Joe James of Green County; John Dow, assistant superintendent of Brookhaven, and Dr. Ted Alexander of McComb.

Attorneys representing school boards include Bob Drake, Petal City Schools, and Billy Andrews, Lamar County Schools.

David Watkins, attorney for the Mississippi School Board Association and legislator Percy Watson also will be on the program.

John Hartman, executive director of the MSBA, will represent that group.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. A buffet luncheon will be served and from 2:25 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. A panel representing all groups will present reactions to the day's presentations.

Audience participation and pre-registration are encouraged.

For additional information, call Purvis at (601) 266-4559.

Local doctor retains membership in AAFP

Dr. Helen G. McGehee of Waveland has completed continuing education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. The academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

The requirements call for members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. The academy was the first national medical group to require members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education. Because of their broad training, family physicians have the "know how" to treat approximately 90 percent of all human illnesses.

The academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instrumental in the establishment of the specialty of family practice in 1969. Besides maintaining continuing education standards for its members, the academy strives to increase the number of family physicians available to serve the public in the future.

"Its continuing education program also provides a major basis of eligibility for academy members seeking recertification in the specialty of family practice.

Hillman named law review editor

The daughter of a Bay St. Louis couple recently was named a notes and comments editor of the Wake Forest University Law Review for 1985-86.

She is Elizabeth Kay Hillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. Hillman. Miss Hillman is a second-year law student.

The Law Review is published six times yearly, providing the legal profession with articles on current problems in the law.

James Taylor, dean for external affairs at Wake Forest's School of Law, calls an editorship on the Law Review "one of the most prestigious achievements available to a law student."

State AARP official to address chapter's April 15 meeting

Dr. Esther Oschmann of Hancock County Chapter No. 1114, American Association of Retired People, reports guest speaker for the group's April 15 meeting at the Waveland American Legion Hall will be AARP's assistant state director.

In addition, she noted William Paulus of the Naval Oceanographic office at NSTL will be speaker for the chapter's May 20 meeting.

Mrs. Theresa James, RSVP director, will be arranging NSTL tours for seniors.

Mrs. James is seeking RSVP volunteers, Oschmann said.

At the group's March meeting, Dr. Oschmann introduced Eddie Murtagh, tax collector, as the guest speaker.

He explained changes in tax laws and reminded those over 65 to sign up for homestead exemptions.

After the meeting refreshments, donated by Mrs. Marian Kilbride, Mrs. Kathy La Chance and Dr. Oschmann, were served.

Watkins—Necaise

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Crosby of Silver Creek have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Sallie Michelle Watkins, to Rodney John Necaise, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Necaise of Kiln.

The couple will exchange vows Saturday, April 13 at 1 p.m. at Annunciation Catholic Church.

A reception will follow at Jourdan River Shores Club House. Friends and relatives are welcome to attend.

Warm, dry and windy days have been a problem for firefighters in our area.

There have been several woods fires with homes threatened by them.

All citizens are urged to be extremely careful while burning, and to be sure to secure burning permits where required.

The extreme cold winter has caused an unusual number of trees and shrubs to die this past winter, leaving a more abundant supply of fuel for the ravaging woods and brush fires.

While traveling at night one usually notices many things not seen during daylight hours, especially where lights are involved.

It is nice to travel down US-90 at night through Waveland and see the many lights which brighten the highway, and a disappointment when one reaches the Bay St. Louis city limits and sees very few.

The highway has been passing through the city limits of Bay St. Louis for many, many years.

Travelers would exit the Old Spanish Trail, travel down Main Street to meet the ferry and cross the Bay of St. Louis before the wooden bridge was constructed in the 1920's. This gives you an idea of how long the highway has been passing through the city.

On the other hand, Waveland has had the highway passing through its city limits for only a few years with recent annexation.

The installation of lights on US-90 in Bay St. Louis has been discussed a number of times, and it sure would be an asset to have them installed.

We know many Bay St. Louis residents are happy to hear bids have been received to provide utilities to the annexed area.

This is something which has been promised and needed by the residents of those areas for a long time, and some have even brought court action against the city.

It will also give many lot owners an opportunity to secure certain types of building loans they haven't been able to obtain because of a lack of sewerage.

Congressmen address '86 proposed VA budget cuts

By EDGAR PEREZ

Four Mississippi congressmen have assured the Hancock County veterans service officer they are working to counter Reagan Administration proposals to slash the veterans health care budget in Fiscal 1986.

The assurances came in letters to Mike Ladner, Hancock veterans service officer who recently addressed the issue in letters to Senators John Stennis and Thad Cochran and Representatives Trent Lott and G.V. (Sonny) Montgomery.

Ladner noted Hancock veterans "...are becoming justifiably enraged at what the Administration in Washington is contemplating...to cut veterans health care benefits..."

In his answer to Ladner's letter, Montgomery pointed out "The President's level of funding is below the projected inflation rate and will essentially limit inpatient-outpatient treatment capacity (at Veterans Administration Hospitals), cut 934 hospital beds, reduce hospital staff by 4,000 and make major reductions in medical facility construction."

Montgomery, Democrat from Mississippi's Third District and chairman of the House Committee on Veterans Affairs, added, "I recognize that the VA must share the responsibility of trimming the deficit, and the record shows that we have accepted cuts during the last four years of $1 billion."

Lott, Fifth District representative, pointed out that, "As is normal with budget discussions at the beginning of a new year, many things are considered that are not included in the final budget."

Stennis told Ladner, "...you may be assured that I am giving my personal attention to the problems of veterans' benefits."

Cochran stated, "In my opinion...priority should be given to reducing the budget deficit by eliminating those federal programs that are wasteful and ineffective, not by taking from veterans those benefits which they have earned."

The full texts of the congressmen's answers to Ladner's letter follow:

Mr. Mike Ladner
County Service Officer
Veteran's Service Center

P.O. Box 152
Bay St. Louis, Ms 39520

Dear Mike:

Thank you for your letter concerning President Reagan's budget proposals which would adversely affect veterans and their families.

I have always been one of the strongest supporters of our servicemen, both active and former. I believe that we have a special debt to those who served our Nation at times of distress. Therefore, you may be assured that I am giving my personal attention to the problems of veterans' benefits.

Again, my appreciation for your concern, and with warm good wishes, I am

Your friend,
John C. Stennis
United States Senator

March 14, 1985

Dear Mr. Ladner:

Thank you for your recent letter regarding proposed reductions in benefits and programs serving our veterans.

The need for fiscal and budgetary restraint is very real in this period of continued high budget deficits.

In my opinion, however, priority should be given to reducing the budget deficit by eliminating those federal programs that are wasteful and ineffective, not by taking from veterans those benefits which they have earned.

You can be assured I will have your interests in mind when the Congress considers appropriations for veterans programs.

I appreciate you sharing your thoughts with me about this very important issue and hope that you will continue to let me hear from you on matters of mutual concern.

Sincerely,
Thad Cochran
United States Senator

March 11, 1985

Dear Mike:

I appreciate receiving your correspondence and share your concern over American veterans. As a member of Congress for more than 12 years, I have consistently and aggressively worked for veterans' hospitals on the Mississippi Gulf Coast for progressive and improved health care.

As you know, we do have budget deficit problems in the federal government which we must reduce in order to hold interest rates and unemployment down. As is normal with budget discussions at the beginning of a new year, many things are considered that are not included in the final budget.

You can be assured that I will be alert to legislation that is introduced in the 99th Congress pertaining to veterans; benefits, health care and compensation, keeping in mind your views.

I hope you will feel free to contact me whenever there are matters before the Congress in which you have a special interest.

With best wishes and kind regards, I am

Sincerely yours,
Trent Lott

March 18, 1985

Dear Mr. Ladner:

Thank you for your letter concerning the President's Fiscal Year 1986 budget for the Veterans Administration. His proposal would provide budget authority of $27.1 billion, a decrease of $123.5 million below 1985.

The proposed budget includes a 4.1 percent increase in compensation and pension effective Dec. 1, 1985.

The medical program budget proposal is $9.35 billion in budget authority, an increase of $205 million over the 1985 reestimated budget.

Our Committee has recommended a budget of $27.7 billion, with a medical program budget of $9.35 billion.

The President's level of funding is below the projected inflation rate and will essentially limit inpatient/outpatient treatment capacity, cut 934 hospital beds, reduce hospital staff by 4,000 and make major reductions in medical facility construction.

The President also proposed legislation which would require insurance companies to reimburse Veterans' Administration for health care for insured non-service-connected disabled veterans, and will also submit legislation to establish a medical benefits mechanism for certain categories of non-service-connected veterans without regard to age.

I recognize that the VA must share the responsibility of trimming the deficit, and the record shows that we have accepted cuts during the last four years of over $1 billion.

I assure you that I shall do everything I can to ensure that our Nation's veterans continue to receive the benefits and services which they are entitled.

Sincerely,
G.V. (Sonny) Montgomery

Housekeeping

Weekly Summary
from

Mississippi House of Representatives

By Andrew Reese
House Information Officer

The closing days of a legislative session are always hectic and often frustrating, but sometimes can be richly satisfying in the sense that members, individually, believe they have done their best to represent their people and meet the needs of the state.

The closing days of the 1985 session were no exception. Legislation that appeared to be dead was revived and approved. Other measures that had been passed by both chambers but in different forms wound up dying in House-Senate conference committees.

A lot of attention in the Mississippi House of Representatives in the final, frantic days was focused on state finances, highway funding, prison crowding, and property taxation.

A general fund budget totaling $1.6 billion was approved with the passage of a massive stack of appropriation bills to fund state agencies and institutions in the coming fiscal year. Increased allocations were approved for public schools, universities and junior colleges, public welfare, mental health, hospitals, and other programs.

The biggest single expenditure—as usual—was for support of public education under the state's Minimum Foundation Program. An appropriation of $578 million was authorized for the schools, including money to finance the teacher pay bill enacted earlier in session.

Other major budgetary items included $167 million for higher education, with $157.5 million in general support for the eight universities; $60 million for junior colleges; $39 million for public welfare; $45 million for the state penitentiary and other Department of Corrections operations; $31 million for the Highway Patrol and other Department of Safety programs; $64 million for mental health programs; $21 million for several repair and renovation projects, with $6 million to repair the Robert E. Lee State Office Building; and $19 million for the Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station at Mississippi State University.

Funds were approved for a $4 million office building at the National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) facility in Hancock County. Money also was authorized for an aquaculture research unit at the Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station.

Total expenditures from the state's general operating fund are expected to run slightly over $1.6 billion in the fiscal year starting July 1, 1985, and all-time high. This includes about $20 million in lapsed funds being reappropriated.

One of the last bills to win legislative approval was a measure to allow a continued diversion of general fund revenues to the state Highway Department. Highway officials said the $50 million diversion was essential to match federal funds and make sure the state can proceed with new construction projects. The bill also authorized $45 million for state-aid roads under the present distribution formula for counties.

The governor would be allowed to declare a state of emergency and authorize early paroles when the state's prison system population exceeds 95 percent of the operating capacity under a bill approved last week by the Mississippi House of Representatives.

The measure, also approved by the Senate, was in response to a recent federal court order requiring Mississippi to reduce the backlog of state inmates in county jails by June 1 or face stiff fines. The legislation specifies that habitual criminals and people convicted of such crimes as murder, rape, kidnapping and any offense in which a deadly weapon was used will not be eligible for the early paroles.

A last-ditch move came last week to enact legislation dealing with the complex issue of property taxation. The House initially approved a proposed constitutional amendment that supporters said was aimed at providing relief to homeowners in property assessment ratios. The proposal was sent later to a House-Senate conference committee to try to resolve differences and a compromise plan was offered Saturday night, but failed to get the two-thirds majority necessary for adoption of constitutional amendments. The session had been expected to end Saturday but legislators agreed to return Monday for a last attempt to keep the legislation alive.

The fight involved a 1982 constitutional amendment which authorized separate assessment ratios for different classes of property. Under the proposed change, the number of property classes would be raised from four to six and some classes could be assessed at values up to three times the assessment on other classes. Currently, one class of property can be assessed at values up to two times the assessment on other classes.

The compromise plan offered Saturday night called for single-family homes to be assessed at 10 percent of true value; agricultural and forest lands would be assessed at 12 percent; other real and personal property, including commercial property, would remain at 15 percent; public utilities and motor vehicles would remain at 20 percent.

Proponents argued the changes would mean relief for homeowners and help offset an alleged shift in the tax burden from utilities to homes following court-ordered reappraisal. Others warned the proposal was hastily prepared and could erode the tax base of local governments, and urged a delay on the matter until an interim study—authorized by the Mississippi House—can be conducted into "all aspects of property taxation."

There also were strong objections by some to the proposed removal of a constitutional guarantee that counties can tax utility property within their own boundaries.

WHAT TYPE GOVERNMENT DO WE WANT?

The 1985 legislative session has been labeled by some observers as the "year of the pay raise." Pay increases have been approved for legislators, county supervisors, teachers and other state employees, and circuit clerks probably will be added to the list.

Pay increases going to legislators and county supervisors prompt the question, "What type of government do we want?"

One of the strengths of our republican form of government has been that citizens have been willing to offer for part-time public duty while depending upon private sources for a livelihood. In the beginning county supervisors were citizens who made their living in the private sector, then served as part-time policy makers, rarely dependent upon their public jobs for the principal support of their families.

The same was true for legislators. They came to the capitol on a limited-time basis, took care of affairs of state, and returned home.

Gradually, however, Mississippi is moving in the direction of full-time county supervisors and full-time legislators. And, pay increases are being approved on the grounds that these positions are becoming full-time.

As the trend continues, Mississippians will want to consider whether they are ready—and willing—to abandon the principles of citizen participation in limited government in exchange for full-time county supervisors and full-time legislators.

PLANNING ALTRUSA BENEFIT—Gathered to complete plans for a forthcoming Bay-Waveland Altrusa Club annual benefit Spring Card Party are club members, from left, Shug Mallini, Dorothy Sutton, Hazel McCreary, Theresa Bourgeois, Jeanette Purchner and Betsy Ashman. The event, open to the public, is slated for 6:30 p.m. Sunday at Landmark Restaurant on Main Street, Bay St. Louis with funds dedicated to Altrusa's Scholarship Fund to assist deserving women to enter or re-enter the job market. (Echo staff photo by Dena Bisnette).

Altrusa sets scholarship fund-raiser party Sunday

Altrusa Club of Bay St. Louis-Waveland will host its annual Spring Card party fund-raiser Sunday, April 14 at 6:30 p.m. at the Landmark Restaurant, Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

Proceeds from the event go to Altrusa's Scholarship Fund to assist women in obtaining the education they need to enter or re-enter the job market.

Altrusa invites adult members of the public to this charity event.

Tickets are $5 per person and may be obtained at Seymour's Jewelry Store, from any Altrusa member, or at the Landmark.

In addition to the Scholarship Fund, other club service projects include Harbor House girls home in Waveland and the Gulf Coast Women's Center in Biloxi.

In addition the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Chapter of Altrusa has been selected to host a District Four International Conference April 27, also at the Landmark.

Clubs attending will include Biloxi, Pascagoula, Gulfport, Hattiesburg, Laurel, Mobile, Bay St. Louis-Waveland, Hammond, and New Orleans, La.

Altrusa, with a motto of "Patriotism, Efficiency, and Service," became a national organization August 21, 1917, and became international in 1935.

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland Chapter was organized by Princess T. Fahey in 1972.

Since that time, the local chapter has continued to grow in strength and in commitment to the ideals of Altrusa, according to Theresa S. Bourgeois of Bay St. Louis.

Membership in Altrusa is open to all business women in the community.

Bourgeois said "Principles of Altrusa," excerpted from an organization handbook, exemplify and define the nature of Altrusa:

"Altrusa is a builder of women, an expression of the search for the best in character, in business, and in citizenship. Election to Altrusa is an evidence of confidence which imposes upon the recipient the obligation to strive to be true to the highest standards of life in her personal and business relations."

"Altrusa expresses goodwill for all mankind. Altrusa believes it is not enough to be good—each member must be doing the piece of work that is hers in a way that puts her in the front ranks of accomplishment."

Federal government offers tax incentives

By Carol M. Short
Energy Program Specialist
MCEC

The federal government has acknowledged the value of energy-saving measures by offering income tax credits to consumers buying renewable energy equipment and conservation materials.

There are two separate federal residential energy tax credits, each with its own conditions and limits.

The credits are for energy conservation and renewable energy.

The taxpayer may claim a tax credit for 15 percent of the first $2,000 spent on energy conserving measures. This credit is effective after Dec. 31, 1979, and carries a maximum allowable credit of $300.

Purchases of materials such as insulation, caulking and weatherstripping, storm windows, automatic furnace ignition systems and clock thermostats qualify for an energy conservation tax credit.

The credit for renewable energy systems, including solar, geothermal, or wind powered equipment, is 40 percent of the first $10,000 spent, making the maximum credit $4,000.

The renewable energy system installed must be new and purchased after April 19, 1977. It must also be designed to last at least three years. All active solar systems are eligible, and selected passive systems such as freestanding thermal storage walls, roof ponds, movable insulation and many thermosiphon systems qualify.

Passive systems or materials that serve a significant structural function or are structural components such as walls, windows, skylights and roof overhangs do not qualify.

If the energy tax credit is in excess of the total amount of taxes owed for 1984, the part of the credit not used can be credited to next year's bill and to each successive tax bill through 1987 until the credit is used up.

Owners and renters of homes are eligible for these credits, if they actually pay for the qualifying items and if the equipment or materials are used in their principal residence. The credits do not apply to equipment or materials used in vacation or second homes.

To take advantage of the credits, taxpayers must fill out Internal Revenue System (IRS) Form 5695 "Energy Credits" and attach it to their form 1040. Energy credits cannot be claimed on short form 1040A.

More detailed information on qualifying energy credits is available in IRS Publication 903, "Energy Credits for Individuals."

REATTACHING
HUMAN PARTS

Although the medical science of reattaching severed human body parts has come a long way, there are some important do's and don'ts involved in this medical specialty that the public should understand if suddenly an accident brings someone face to face with several important options.

Dr. Chris Ethridge of Jackson, a hand surgeon who has special training in the field of micro-surgery, recently provided some timely advice to farmers or others who suddenly may lose fingers, toes, or worse yet—arms and legs—and need to know what can be done in the way of reattaching these body parts, and what hazards may stand in the way of success in these operations.

First, the size of the dismembered part has a lot to do with both the chances for successful reattachment and the time lapse and other conditions that must be met. Major limb amputations containing muscles must be reattached quickly to be successful, but carry significant risk to life itself because there is a chance of gangrene developing.

"Muscles are difficult to work with," said Dr. Ethridge, "and degeneration begins in muscle tissue very soon after blood circulation is stopped. So we have to get started with reattachment of these larger parts in a very short time."

The surgeon went on to point out that reattachment may not always be the best course of action when some digit or parts of one or more fingers or toes are severed. In some cases decisions must be made between a functional need or a cosmetic desire.

"Some fingers or toes may be lost without seriously impairing the functions of the victim," the specialist said, "and in view of the pain, a much greater period of recuperation, and in some cases incomplete restoration of use of the digit, it may be better judgment to close the wound and allow it to heal more readily without attachment or grafting."

However, many patients may strongly desire a restoration of appearance and call for successive operations and grafting of tissue from other parts of their body to achieve that end. For many, the cost of restoration may be an important factor for consideration.

Farmers are among the people who expose themselves to high powered machinery and are in a high risk category for maiming accidents.

The surgeon suggested that any time such an accident occurs, those at the scene should quickly and carefully gather up all dismembered tissue and send it to the local hospital immediately. There, the tissue should be rinsed with water and wrapped in a clean cloth that has been moistened with water.

Then place the wrapped part in a plastic bag, seal it, and place it on ice. But do not place the part in ice so that cells may freeze. Just keep it cool and keep the open wound up to avoid a total drainage of blood.

A victim should have nothing to eat or drink on the way to the hospital, and smoking must be avoided absolutely during and following reattachment if the operation is to succeed.

Time is important, but not so critical that a victim should be endangered by another accident in rushing recklessly to the hospital. The suggested time limit for arm and leg muscle reattachment is four to six hours after amputation.

An amputated foot or hand can be reattached within 12 to 18 hours after severance, and fingers, toes, and other tissue may be reattached as long as 24 hours after the accident, if properly cared for and cooled.

CHINESE IMMIGRANTS: "Nightsongs," a new film dramatizing the struggle of a Chinese immigrant family as seen through the eyes of a Chinese-Vietnamese relative, is the next presentation on "American Playhouse" at 9 p.m., Monday, Apr. 15 on Mississippi ETV.

The film highlights the characters' cultural alienation and their difficulties in assimilating into a new economic and cultural environment. The story is structured around a series of poetic journal entries written by the Chinese-Vietnamese cousin of her husband, who has remained behind in a Southeast Asian refugee camp to search for their missing son.

HOW THE OTHER HALF LOVES—Terry (Penny Kelley) is carried off stage by her husband Bob (George Welman) during rehearsal for the upcoming production of "How The Other Half Loves" by the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre. The play, which was originally scheduled to be this week, will be presented April 18-20 at 8:15 p.m. at the theater on Boardman Street. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Newspaper project to get underway

To preserve the history of Mississippi's newspapers, the Department of Archives and History, in cooperation with the Mississippi Library Commission, Mississippi Press Association, and the state's major universities, has received a $10,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to conduct the first phase of a three-part survey of newspapers published in the state.

Elbert R. Hilliard, director of the Department, announced the grant allocation with these comments: "With the awarding of this money, the National Endowment once again recognizes the professionalism and foresight of the Department of Archives and History. We are grateful to the Endowment and look forward to Phases II and III of the project."

The survey will attempt to identify any newspaper ever published in the state, and to locate holdings of these and out-of-state papers also held in Mississippi. This state is one of the earlier states to participate in a nationwide program of locating, publishing a guide to, and microfilming newspapers, to ensure their preservation and access to researchers.

Project director for Mississippi's Phase I is Julia Marks Young, assistant professor in the School of Library Service at the University of Southern Mississippi, and newly appointed editor of American Archivist, the magazine of the Society of American Archivists.

"Phase I will begin with a survey questionnaire being sent to all county clerks, libraries, archives and manuscript repositories, museums, historical and genealogical societies, and newspaper offices," Young said. "From these, a cumulative list of volumes of newspapers held in the state will be compiled."

When asked what her definition of a newspaper is, Young replied, "For the purposes of this project, a newspaper is a publication that is designed to be issued more than once, it usually appears with a masthead, no cover, and on newsprint, and contains information of general interest."

As part of Phase I, Young explained, plans will be made for Phase II: the gathering and entering of detailed bibliographic information into OCLC/CONSER, a national database through which persons may determine the existence and location of newspapers from throughout the United States. Phase III, the microfilming of select titles, will also be planned.

Mississippi's first newspaper, the short-lived Mississippi Gazette, was published in 1800. Other papers soon followed, most reflecting political thought and propaganda.

"These early papers (through the late nineteenth century) were the subject of an article on Mississippi printing included in the Goodspeed Publishing Company's 1891 Biographical and Historical Memoirs of Mississippi; but little research on Mississippi's printing or newspapers has been done beyond this."

Hilliard noted, "Newspapers offer an invaluable source of information about the state's politics, economy, social development, and the day-to-day lives of its citizens. Such a systematic effort, as our survey, to locate, catalog, make available, and preserve the products of Mississippi's press is essential if this information is to survive."

Both Hilliard and Young emphasized that the project needs any information about newspaper collections which may now be in private hands. The survey should include these as well as those in public holdings.

To contact the project director about information leading to any newspapers, or to receive further information about the project write: Julia Marks Young, Mississippi Newspaper Preservation Planning Project, Department of Archives and History, P.O. Box 571, Jackson, MS 39205.

BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

Who can resist the lure of those fresh green stalks of asparagus brightening the produce counters these spring days? Not I; for the season is all too short, and fresh asparagus too delicious to resist.

In early times asparagus was considered food fit only for the gods. The ancient Romans feasted upon asparagus as early as 200 B.C., and later the English devoured it raw, and its fame spread all across Europe.

So, naturally, when the early colonists came to the New World, they brought along seeds or roots, and as the settlers moved Westward, they tucked roots of asparagus into their satchels or trunks or whatever they used to hold their belongings when they started along the trail. And, of course, Thomas Jefferson grew asparagus in his greenhouses at famed Monticello.

Asparagus is quite versatile, equally delicious hot, lukewarm or cold—sautéed with cheese or Hollandaise, or chilled, with a vinaigrette sauce—and you can even use the peelings and ends for a vegetable broth!

I often use cheese or other sauces for frozen or canned asparagus, but I prefer not to mask the taste of that springtime fresh asparagus—I prefer it barely cooked, accented with chopped fresh parsley and melted butter.

There's much controversy over the way fresh asparagus should be cooked, from the purists who insist upon special asparagus steamers, with the stalks standing upright, to those who just toss the stalks into a pot and boil them down.

If you want to cook them upright, save the money you'd have to spend on a special pot, and use a coffee or juice can, with the ends cut off, and buy some more fresh asparagus instead while it's available.

For my part, I prefer to cook the asparagus flat, in layers, in a large, cast iron skillet, barely bathed in water or butter, and barely cooked so that it's still crisp. And, instead of breaking off the stalks toward the tougher ends, I prefer to peel them with a small, sharp knife—but, to each his own! Whatever you do, don't overcook it—no more than several minutes, or a bit more if you prefer limp stalks.

At any rate, here are a few simple but superb ways to enjoy fresh asparagus. Here's:

ASPARAGUS IN BUTTER SAUCE
For each stick (¼ lb.) melted butter, add juice of a lemon, pepper and salt to taste, and pour over a bunch of asparagus after cooking. And,

CHEESE BROILED ASPARAGUS
1 bunch asparagus, approximately 2 lbs.
6 Tbsp. olive oil
1 garlic clove
½ to ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Pepper, salt
Steam or boil the asparagus until tender, drain well and place spears in a shallow baking pan. Pour three tablespoons oil over, and sprinkle with pepper, salt and the cheese. Meanwhile, halve the garlic and saute for a few minutes, five or so, in the remaining oil. Remove the garlic, add the garlic-seasoned oil to the dish, and brown under medium heat. (Four servings).

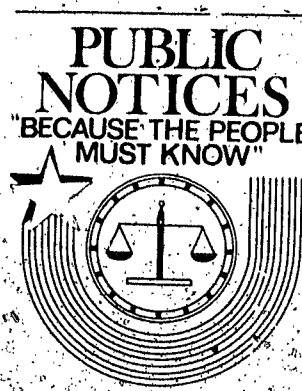

HAM AND ASPARAGUS ROLLS
16 cooked stalks asparagus
4 thin slices ham
½ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
2 Tbsp. butter
2 Tbsp. flour
1 cup milk
Pepper, salt, hot pepper sauce to taste

Roll each ham slice around four of the stalks and fasten with a toothpick. Meanwhile, make a white (cream) sauce. Melt the butter, stir in the flour, add the milk and seasonings and cook, stirring into a smooth sauce. Add the cheese, mix in well, set aside briefly.

Place the ham-asparagus rolls in a shallow baking pan, pour the cheese sauce over, broil until golden brown. (Four servings).

1 cup milk
Pepper, salt, hot pepper sauce to taste

Roll each ham slice around four of the stalks and fasten with a toothpick. Meanwhile, make a white (cream) sauce. Melt the butter, stir in the flour, add the milk and seasonings and cook, stirring into a smooth sauce. Add the cheese, mix in well, set aside briefly.

Place the ham-asparagus rolls in a shallow baking pan, pour the cheese sauce over, broil until golden brown. (Four servings).

Shoreline couple loses home to fire 25th anniversary

By DENA BISNETTE
Ralph and Lois VanDyke of Alabama celebrating their 25th anniversary in Shoreline Park home wed by fire March 14.

"We'll remember this day for a long time," Mrs. VanDyke said Tuesday. "I'll remember it more than when we died. That was our dream home."

"We thought we were for life and would never have to move again."

The house, located at Bayou, was totally destroyed by a fire, apparently starting from an electrical shorting to Bill Fields, president of Hancock Volunteer Fire Department.

Fields said the fire received two calls about at about 11:30 p.m. and spotted flames.

East Hancock sent then called Bay and Waveland for additional firefighters, but was saved the house.

"It was already pined when we got there. It was coming through the floor. You could see the house was on fire," Fields said.

"Every time we would make an attack with water, it would explode under the house. It had barrels stored there. I don't know what was in them. It would fly off. One like a Frisbee and just hit the firemen," he added.

Firefighters remained at the scene until 1 a.m. the following morning to make sure no nearby structures were endangered.

Since no one was in the house when it started, the fire could have smoldered for some time before being discovered, Fields said.

The wooden house, which Mrs. VanDyke said had stood on 48 pillars and was the second largest residence in Shoreline Park, had been built in 1977. VanDyke had done most of the interior work himself and had recently added a room and a screened porch.

"When we were building it, I sat in a little trailer that was about 15 feet long and watched every board go up," Mrs. VanDyke said. "We put so much love in that house."

"We had built that house so strong that it could have withstood any hurricane that ever hit here. The only thing we weren't ready for was fire."

She said the residence was insured, but she and her husband have been told that if they build again in Shoreline Park they will not be able to obtain fire insurance.

In addition to the loss of the house, the VanDykes, along with two daughters and two grandchildren who live with them, lost all their possessions.

Among items lost that Mrs. VanDyke considers irreplaceable were objects VanDyke had collected while traveling during his military career and childhood photographs of the couple's six children.

"I think that's what I'll miss most of all, not having photos of our children as they were growing up," she said.

"I'm just glad that we weren't home. If we had been, we would have probably been caught in there. We were supposed to have been back by March 14, but we were delayed in Alabama because our car developed transmission trouble," Mrs. VanDyke said.

She said she heard about the fire from her mother, who telephoned her in Alabama; neighbors and firefighters.

"We were told that the firemen did everything they could and we want to thank every one of them. The ones we talked to were so apologetic. We're just glad no one was hurt fighting the fire."

The fire forced VanDyke to postpone entering a hospital for surgery, his wife added. "Tragedy seems to have been following us, but it's got to get better, she said."

The VanDykes, their daughters Kathleen and Debbie and two grandchildren now live in a rented trailer on property next door to the lot where their house once stood. They are looking for a new home and still need furniture, clothing and household items.

Clothing needed includes boys' shirts size 12, pants size 12 and 14 and shoes size three and one-half; girls' large or size 34 blouses and size-eight shoes; women's pants sizes six, seven and eight, large blouses and size five; six and seven shoes; and men's size 38 pants, size 16 shirts and size nine shoes.

People wishing to provide items for the family should contact Mrs. VanDyke at 467-0201 or Lois Fallo at 467-6461.

Day Care and Worthers

With the increasement of mothers in the labor day care is becoming an increasingly important issue from a standpoint and from the guild the mothers feel when they are away from their children.

Six of every others with preschool or schoolchildren are in the labor force according to Labor Department.

For many women full-time homemaker is not a notion. Working outside the home economic necessity.

Much research children of working mothers has done. The results show that children do not suffer from good surcare, according to Norine E. child and family development specialist with Mississippi Cope Extension Service.

"Working mother should not feel guilty about leaving children if the children are in good care," Mrs. Barnes said.

Another factor is the mother feels about leaving child.

"It is important the mother be happy if the child is happy. A working mother prefers to be at home will commute this unhappiness to her child. She deals with him or her, wife, a full-time homemaker prefers to be working may move to deal with her child if she sets to do what she really wants to do," Mrs. Barnes said.

"Children of working mothers or homemaker moth can be happy and well-adjusted if parents remember that it is the quantity of time they are with their children, but the quality of time."

"Quality time" time alone between the parent and child when they discuss and share their feelings. It is also a time for love and affection. Parents should also encourage independence and personal growth in the child, Mrs. Barnes said.

In addition to providing quality time, the parents could provide a wholesome and healthy environment at home, Mrs. Barnes said.

"If parents choose to put their child in day care they should select the best day care they can afford. Parents should also understand the child's development and reinforce learning and discipline that take place at day care," Mrs. Barnes said.

"The key is to remember that as parents, we are still responsible for our children's overall emotional development, regardless of how the child is cared for during the day," Mrs. Barnes said.

There are three types of day care available. One is a day care center where a large number of children are kept. Another option is sending the child to another person's house. Or the parents can hire someone to stay with the child at home.

The cost of day care varies greatly. In-home care at the child's own home costs the most, from $250 to $400 per month in Mississippi. Taking the child to someone else's house or to a day care center will cost from $100 to $200 per month in Mississippi, according to estimates gathered from across the state.

Although many parents think that child care is expensive, the rates for home care are reasonable compared to what can legally be charged under the Fair Labor Standards Act. The act states that "full-time baby sitters must be paid the required minimum wage and overtime" if the sitter regularly works more than 20 hours per week. This rule does not apply to individuals who take children into their own homes for care.

However, individuals who employ two or more people to help care for the children, whether in a home or at a day care center, must pay the minimum wage. Operators who have fewer than two employees or whose employees are members of their own immediate family are not subject to this rule.

Regardless of the type of care selected, parents should ask the following questions when making child care arrangements, according to Mrs. Barnes:

- Is the facility clean and safe?
 - Is there adequate space for equipment and children?
 - Is there an outdoor play space?
 - Is there a balance of active and quiet activities?
 - Is there opportunity for large group, small group and individual activity (if more than one child is kept)?
 - Do the children seem happy and relaxed?
 - Do the care-givers enjoy their work?
 - How are the children disciplined?
 - Are you comfortable with the arrangement?
- "If parents are sure their children are receiving quality surrogate care, there is no reason for working mothers to feel guilty," Mrs. Barnes said.

ETV Brief

CHILD MOLESTERS

"Men Who Molest," a "Frontline" documentary with Judy Woodruff, profiles four different men convicted of child molesting at 9 p.m., Tuesday, Apr. 16 on Mississippi ETV.

The men profiled are in treatment at Northwest Treatment Associates in Seattle. Northwest is the nation's largest community treatment program for child molesters. It is also one of the most controversial.

The Northwest Treatment Associates approach depends primarily on behavior modification, a technique designed to stop the molesting immediately and deal with the motivations of the offender afterwards.

The first step in stopping the offense, therapists there believe, is recognizing and dealing with its place in the offenders life.

Franckiewicz campaign rally slated Sunday

The Franckiewicz for Mayor Campaign Committee will host a rally for Bay St. Louis mayoral candidate Vic Franckiewicz Jr. Sunday, Apr. 14 from 2 to 5 p.m. at 608 South Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis.

Franckiewicz will speak to the gathering at 3:30 p.m. and will address questions from the audience.

"The public is invited to meet the candidate and share refreshments and entertainment with their neighbors," a committee spokesman said.

YOUR HEALTH

Someone remarked the other day that he didn't know Chiropractic care could do anything for headaches. Similar remarks may be heard from time to time concerning other conditions of the body. Even patients, upon recovery from one ailment through Chiropractic, are sometimes unaware that adjustments also can correct the cause of Nerve Interference which creates other illnesses and conditions! The point is that Chiropractic care is not really limited to correcting backaches as most people think, but is an all around health service. Doctors of Chiropractic realize there are conditions necessitating surgery and will not hesitate to recommend these services when they deem it necessary. In fact, your doctor of Chiropractic would not accept your case if he didn't feel it would be the best all around approach to your problems.

Bay unbeaten in conference, district play

The Bay St. Louis Senior High Baseball Team puts its unblemished district and conference records on the line tonight in a 7 p.m. contest with an always dangerous Pearl River Central aggregation at Tiger Field.

The Tigers earlier this week devastated Pass Christian 23-7 and Saturday scored a big 14-8 victory over previously undefeated Stone County.

Bay High will take an overall 7-1 record into Thursday's game against the Blue Devils who are 2-6 overall, 2-4 conference and 2-6 district.

PRC first baseman-pitcher Tommy Spiers and rightfielder and pitcher Jonathan Carter are expected to lead Coach David Oaks' Blue Devils attack from the plate.

In Saturday's big win over the Tomcats, pitcher Jeffrey Smith batted in five runs, with a double, a triple, and two home runs to light up the Tigers' 14-8 victory.

This marked the first loss for the Tomcats.

Smith, a junior who was credited with the victory, received support from Jesse Logan, Craig Breland and twin brothers, Trace and Stace McRaney.

Logan had one homer, Breland contributed three RBIs, and the McRaneys had identical two for four box scores.

Bay St. Louis managed to preserve its unblemished District VII Class 3-A record by defeating the defensively shaky Pass Christian Pirates 23-7 Monday.

The Tigers, now 4-0 in the district, produced seven runs in the bottom of the first inning, one in the second and 15 in the third.

Pass Christian helped the Tiger cause by committing eight errors, allowing five passed balls and walking 13 batters.

Brian Laneaux, Trace McRaney and winning pitcher Craig Breland combined for 12 RBIs, with Jesse Logan and Jeffrey Smith adding two RBIs each before the game was called due to the 12 run rule.

Earlier in the season, Craig Breland tossed a one-hitter and Brian Laneaux drove in three runs when Bay St. Louis turned back visiting St. Joseph's High of Jackson 4-1.

Breland, whose pitching record was upped to 1-1, fanned nine batters, walked one and gave up only a bunt single in seven innings of work.

Third baseman Laneaux, the only Tiger to get a hit, went 3 for 3.

Stace McRaney led the Tigers to an 8-2 win over neighboring Hancock North Central Hawks by knocking in three runners with two hits, one being a home run.

Brian Laneaux also homered in the top of the third inning. Jeffrey Smith picked up the win allowing 2 runs on four hits, striking out 14 and walking 5. Melton Lewis and Charles Burton shared the mound duties for the Hawks.

The initial home appearance by the Tigers against the Hancock North Central Hawks produced the first win of the season for Tiger pitching ace Jeffrey Smith.

Jesse Logan furnished power at the plate belting out three hits in four times at bat and hitting in 4 RBIs.

Smith helped his own game hitting his first homer of the season, a shot over the centerfield fence. The game was called after four innings, with the score being 16-3 in favor of the Tigers.

Smith struck out nine and walked two allowing 3 runs and 3 hits. Melton Lewis was given credit for the Hawk loss.

In another Tiger victory, powerful junior Jeffrey Smith not only struck out 10 men from East Central, he belted two home runs, one a grand slam in the fourth inning, pushing seven RBIs across the plate.

Smith allowed only three hits and walked four.

Before the lights were turned out at the Tiger diamond, Bay High had 11 runs to the 3 scored by East Central.

The Bay St. Louis record was upped to 5-1 as the Tigers scored five runs in the fourth inning enroute to a 7-3 win against Vancleave.

Winning pitcher Craig Breland struck out four, gave up two hits and two runs. Trace McRaney went two for four and Brian Laneaux scored three RBIs.

Wendell Corey, Vancleave pitcher, hit a triple, the only hit for extra bases.

Bay High's only loss of the season came in their opening contest against the Gulfport High Admirals. That game came as the Tigers had barely traded shoulder pads for bats and gloves to open their 1985 baseball campaign against the Admirals only two days after the completion of the Spring Football game.

The bat of Derek Dowling of the Gulfport Admirals is the lone obstacle preventing the Tigers baseball team from having a perfect season.

Dowling belted a three run homer in the bottom of the first inning and a solo homer in the third inning to lead the Admirals to a 5-4 baseball victory over the Bay 9.

Ben Lee was the winning pitcher striking out seven, walking four and giving up three runs on three hits.

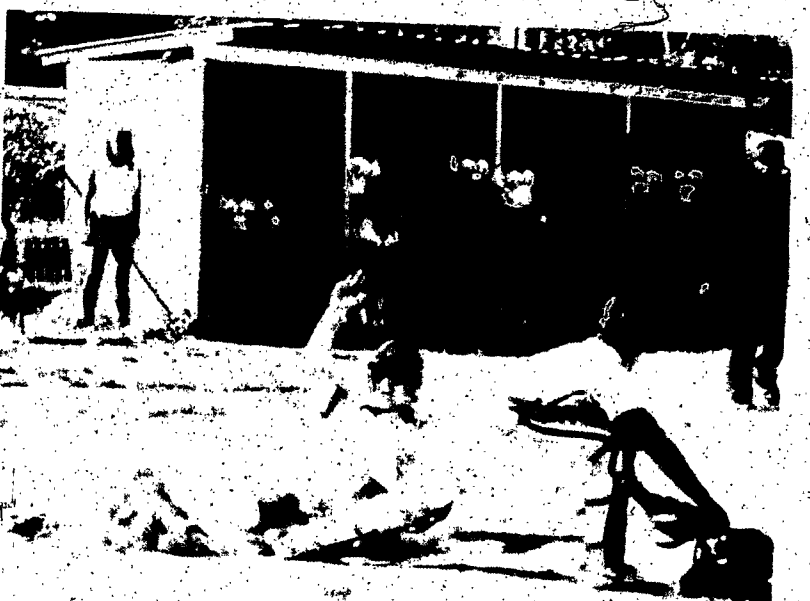

Craig Breland was credited with the loss, giving up 4 runs on 5 hits, and one walk.

TIGERS ON A ROLL—The 1985 Bay Senior High Tiger Baseball Team currently sports a 7-1 record, is fresh off a big 14-8 victory over Stone County Saturday and a 23-7 trouncing of Pass Christian Monday. The Tigers, who lost by only one run to Gulfport High, remain undefeated in district and conference play. They meet Pearl River Central at 7 p.m. tonight at home. Team members include, from left kneeling, Trace McRaney, Mike Grisham,

Troy Haynes, Andrew Collins, Matt Fairconnetue, Eddie Bourgeois, Mutakabbir Shabazz and Lawrence Thomas; and standing, Coach G. L. McRaney, Mark Havery, Dennis Dear, Stephen Freeman, Jesse Logan, Dede Whavers, Jay Ginn, Brian Laneaux, Lawrence Favre, Stace McRaney, Craig Breland, Jeffrey Smith and Coach Gary Griffin. Keesler plans Special Olympics

Keesler's Special Olympics for Area 3 will begin at 10 a.m. on April 27. More than 300 special athletes from Harrison, Hancock, Stone and Pearl River counties, are expected to participate in eight skill clinics and five track and field events.

More than 100 special athletes will be selected to participate in the Special Olympics state games at the University of Southern Mississippi in May. Winners at that competition will go to the 7th International games at the University of Notre Dame, Ind., in August.

"Keesler Special Olympics began in 1982 as a series of skill clinics with one-on-one 'buddy' volunteers for each athlete," said 1st Lt. Mark Hunter, project coordinator.

"The Keesler games demonstrate that everyone is special for a day; the athletes have a full day of attention, and the volunteers enjoy being part of the worthwhile event," Hunter said.

As in the past three years, more than 1,000 people have volunteered to serve as runners, huggers, clinicians, chairpersons and entertainers.

Special Olympics is an international program of physical fitness, sports training, and athletic competition for the mentally retarded. It was created by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation and is operated by Special Olympics Inc., a non-profit, charitable organization headquartered in Washington, D.C.

THOMAS HEARNS
WBC Super Welterweight Champ

Hearns bests Hagler 10-7 in survey

The big question that boxing fans around the world are asking is "Who's going to win the Marvin Hagler-Thomas Hearns world middleweight championship fight?"

Hagler will be defending his undisputed title against Hearns on Monday, Apr. 15 at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas.

In recent survey, 20 boxing experts were questioned as to who they thought would emerge the winner.

Donald Curry, WBA welterweight champion favors Hagler because he questions if Hearns can take Marvin's punch.

James Kinchen, middleweight contender, gives the fight to Hearns on a decision because of the "Hit Man's" super boxing ability.

Pat Putnam, Sports Illustrated senior writer, is undecided, but says, "You're going to see a lot of strategy on both sides. There will be two very tough, confident people in the ring, and whatever happens, you're going to see a classic."

Angelo Dundee, veteran manager-trainer, favors Hagler by a slight margin because of Hagler's experience in fighting in the middleweight division.

Ken Pickering, USA Today boxing writer, makes the prediction that Hearns will win with speed and stop Hagler on cuts in the late rounds.

Harold Weston Jr., Madison Square Garden matchmaker, "In the first four rounds I like Hearns, but if the fight goes longer than four rounds, I'm picking Hagler."

Dr. Freddie Pacheco, NBC boxing adviser and commentator, "Marvin Hagler carries the bulk of a legitimate middleweight, he has incredible confidence in himself, and all of his skills are at their peak. That is too much for Hearns to overcome."

Eddie Futch, trainer of Larry Holmes and Michael Spinks, "I like Hearns because of his boxing ability. He has a great left jab and good punching power. A kayo is possible in this one, but I think that Hearns will win probably by a decision."

Ed Schuyler, Associated Press boxing writer, "I like Hearns. I think that he has matured physically and mentally. If Hearns doesn't get him early, he'll box for the rest of the fight. If it goes the distance, Hearns will win. If there is a kayo, Hearns will be the one to score the knockout."

Larry Merchan, HBO boxing analyst, "Since Hagler has fought and beaten every good middleweight for about a decade, until anyone proves otherwise, this is a case of an outstanding middleweight champion fighting an outstanding smaller man. I wouldn't be surprised by anything that happens in this fight, but it's fair to say that at this time, I favor Hagler."

James Shuler, Middleweight contender, "I see the fight going into the late rounds, and the outcome will be Hagler by kayo. The end will come when he lands a barrage of punches and the referee comes in and stops the fight."

Bennie Georgino, veteran manager-trainer, "I like Hearns because of the way he has fought in his last couple of bouts. He has found himself again and I feel that he is the best middleweight in the world today."

Gil Clancy, CBS analyst former manager-trainer, "Hearns will give Hagler a lot of trouble because he will be able to hit Marvin. If I have to pick a winner, it would be Hearns, probably by decision."

Fred Hutchings, junior middleweight contender, "Hagler will destroy him because he's a complete fighter, a manager and trainer's dream."

Nick Charles, Cable News Network sportscaster, "I think Hearns will win by decision if he listens to his corner and fights from the outside. It's not going to be a dull fight."

Michael Katz, New York Times boxing writer, "These are two really fine fighters who matched up wonderfully. I can't pick a winner, that's why this is a wonderful fight."

Art Rust Jr., New York Radio Sports Personality, "If Hearns can take the body shots he will kick the crap out of Hagler. I don't see Hagler stretched out, but Hearns can do that to him."

Tyrone Crawley, lightweight contender, "I think that this is one of the best fights in any division in boxing today. Thomas Hearns has developed into a full-fledged middleweight. I look for an upset because the time is right for Hearns to capitalize on everything."

Jerry Girard, Independent Network News sportscaster, "I think Hearns is going to win by decision. Hagler has not regressed, but he's not going to get any better. I think that Hearns' speed, reach and boxing ability will enable him to out-point Hagler, but I wouldn't bet a bundle on it."

Vito Antuofermo, former middleweight champion, "This fight's definitely going to bring a lot of boxing people out because we haven't really had a big match like this in a long time. It's like Ali-Frazier or Ali-Norton. It's a hard fight to pick, but I'd have to pick Hagler."

There you have it, Hearns 10, Hagler 7, and 3 undecided.

Boxing fans in South Mississippi can see the fight live on closed circuit television at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum, beginning at 8 p.m.

There will be no home TV, no radio, nor will the fight be seen on home satellite discs.

Reserved seats are $25, general admission is $20.

Tickets are available at Loiacano's Health Center, Bay St. Louis and the Coliseum box office.

Leroy Percy State Park plans park system anniversary event

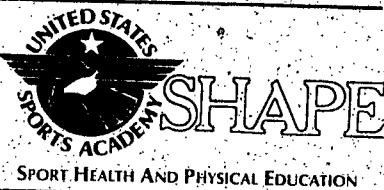

On July 25, 1935 Leroy Percy State Park was opened to the public, the first in a park system that now includes 26 parks.

Leroy Percy was built by recruits in the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC), and was the first of ten parks built by the CCC, the Roosevelt-era relief program for unemployed youth.

For the golden anniversary of Leroy Percy, the Bureau of Recreation and Parks is attempting to locate former CCC workers who were based at Leroy Percy so that they may be honored in special 50th Anniversary ceremonies.

Aubrey Rozzell, director of the Bureau of Recreation and Parks, said that plans are being made to recognize the hundreds of young men who worked at Leroy Percy in a special program scheduled for July 27.

Rozzell said that in addition to former CCC members, any other person involved in building Leroy Percy or anyone present for the opening day ceremonies in 1935 are invited to contact Leroy Percy State Park or write Linda Vaughn, Bureau of Recreation and Parks, P.O. Box 20306, Jackson, MS 39209.

Sport and physical education are popular activities in our society. Exercise has become a national craze for millions of Americans. They are jogging, swimming, dancing and cycling themselves into shape. As a nation, we are much more physically fit than we were 20 or even 10 years ago. But what about America's youth? Has the fitness revolution passed them by? And if this is the case, how can we motivate and encourage young people to take advantage of regular exercise and its many benefits?

Patterns of physical activity are set early in life. Yet, a study prepared by the Department of Health and Human Services in 1984 showed most young Americans do not pursue exercise activity patterns carrying over into adulthood. The study also found that schoolchildren have more body fat than they did 20 years ago, and that only half of them are getting enough exercise to build healthy hearts and lungs. These findings probably apply to residents of other nations and cultures, too.

Games and exercises, along with a program of calisthenics, can provide a good start toward establishing basic fitness. An exercise program should be varied and fun, not regimented. Adults should encourage exercise but should not push their children into sports or activities they dislike.

Neely cited in Lung Association contest

The Mississippi Lung Association announced winners in the 1985 poster art contest on "Smoking and Health."

In making the announcement, Mrs. Mary Jane Green of Grenada, president of the Christmas Seal voluntary health organization, stated that one winning poster was selected from each grade three through 12 and from these posters, one was judged to be the Mississippi Lung Association's Anti-Smoking Education Poster of the Year.

All winning posters will be on display at the Mississippi Lung Association annual meeting in Jackson April 17.

First place winners in grades three through 12 include Marchelle Ebbensgard, third grade, East

Local students participate in USM gifted program

Hancock County-area students participated in the recently completed Saturday Gifted Studies Program at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Participating in the program, which was designed to meet the unique needs of gifted students in kindergarten through grade 12, included Mallaca Strom and Relah Strom of Bay St. Louis and Jimmy Baldree and Leanne Baldree of Pearlington.

Emphasis was placed on individual participation in areas that provide indepth analysis of specific topics in small group activities, according to Dr. Frances Karnes, director of the Center for Gifted Studies.

Courses offered to kindergarten and elementary students were designed to help them better understand themselves, others and the world around them. Courses such as "Using Your Mind" and "Dollars and Sense" helped to develop thinking and decision-making skills.

Students in grades 7-12 could choose from courses entitled, Planetary and Deep-Sky Astronomy, Life the Middle Ages, Debate, and Computer Science. Each course was designed as an introduction to the topic and used research, demonstrations and actual practice.

For more information about the center's offerings, contact Frances Karnes, Center for Gifted Studies, Southern Station Box 5207, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39406.

Episcopal Tea set Wednesday

Women of Christ Episcopal Church will host visitors from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 17, at a silver tea at Beechwood Hall, 806 South Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis. Beechwood Hall, home of new residents Charles Gray and James Plauche, was recently purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Baxter. The house and flower gardens at the rear will provide the setting for a social event which has become an annual tradition in Bay St. Louis. Donations made at the tea will further the work of the Episcopal women's group.

Hollywood Marquee

by James S. Leach

HOLLYWOOD — Stock in Michael Jackson appears to be dropping by the minute. Is this a case of someone becoming too popular?

A few months ago in this space, I reported that Michael was being considered for the title role in Stephen Spielberg's upcoming movie "Peter Pan." According to my connections close to Spielberg, the starring role has been cast, thus it appears Michael Jackson is out of the running.

Is this the same Michael Jackson who less than a year ago was the hottest property in the world of entertainment? The same guy who dominated last year's Grammy awards, but was nowhere to be seen at this year's? The guy who in a recent issue of "US" Magazine was named and called a "fallen archangel."

In my opinion Michael has become a victim of his own celebrity. For a few months he was actually bigger than life itself. With this megadose of fame and fortune came problems most of us (thank God) will never know. As Michael's privacy went out the window, the parasites of the entertainment industry came in. As he could no longer lead a normal life, he chose to let others direct his private and professional affairs.

While his management leaves much to be desired, part of the blame for his current decline lies with the star himself. It all began at last year's Grammy show when the sun-glassed hero of millions seemed to shut out his adoring fans. Granted he may be shy, but that isn't reason for one turning one's back on one's throngs of supporters.

Last summer's Victory Tour really didn't do anything positive for Michael's image either. The general public seemed to be turned off by the high prices and the high hype surrounding the event. At each stop there seemed to be new problems. Promoters fighting each other, ticket scalpers fighting each other, vendors fighting each other... all bringing negative feelings to Michael and his brothers.

I predict he'll be back. Never as big as he was 12 months ago, but he will be back. The guy's got just too much talent and charisma. I'm told he's working on a new album, and of course with that will come creative video productions.
